You Saved Popcorn's Life

When Popcorn was brought to Pasadena Humane, we knew something was very wrong. He was sick and weak, suffering from severe vomiting and diarrhea. He was unable to keep any food down.

At first, we feared the worst. In young puppies like him, parvo is often devastating, but his test came back negative. We hoped that meant Popcorn would quickly bounce back, but unfortunately, his illness kept getting worse. His appetite disappeared and his little body grew weaker. We knew something was very wrong and time was running out.

Our veterinary team made the critical decision to perform exploratory surgery. What we found could have cost him his life. A corncob had become stuck in his intestine. Because they don't break down in a dog's stomach, corncobs can cause dangerous blockages that require surgery. Without treatment, Popcorn's condition could have become life-threatening. Your support helped Popcorn get the lifesaving medical care that he needed.

With swift surgical intervention, our veterinary team skillfully removed the corncob. Thanks to the support of friends like you, Popcorn recovered quickly. He was soon adopted by a wonderful family!

When a fragile life is hanging in the balance, emergency surgeries, intensive care, and lifesaving diagnostics can be critical. Thanks to the resources provided by your support, we never hesitate to act.

DEAR FRIENDS,

Thank you for the compassion and commitment you show to animals in our community. Your generosity makes it possible for Pasadena Humane to be here when animals need us most.

Now that we're in our busiest time of year — kitten and baby wildlife season — your support becomes especially meaningful. Because of you, these vulnerable young animals have a safe place to go and the care they need to thrive.

Your kindness makes our work possible. It reflects something I've seen again and again: people care about animals and step up when given the chance.

With your help, we've expanded ways for people to make a difference — from taking a dog out for a Foster Field Trip to signing up to volunteer or meeting a new pet during extended adoption hours.

Because of you, animals in need are receiving the care and second chances they deserve. Thank you for being part of this community that shows up for animals every day.

With gratitude,

A Second Chance for Wildlife — Thanks to You

When our friends at the California Wildlife Center contacted Pasadena Humane about an injured bobcat in their care, we knew we had to help. The young female had been struck by a car, and X-rays confirmed that one of her legs was broken. For wildlife patients, our goal is always rehabilitation and a safe return to the wild, but this bobcat's future depended on a complex orthopedic surgery.

Thanks to the compassion of supporters like you, we were able to step in. The only chance for this bobcat to live pain-free and eventually return to her natural habitat was a procedure called a Femoral Head Ostectomy (FHO). One of our skilled veterinarians, who has performed this surgery for animals in our care before, didn't hesitate to help.

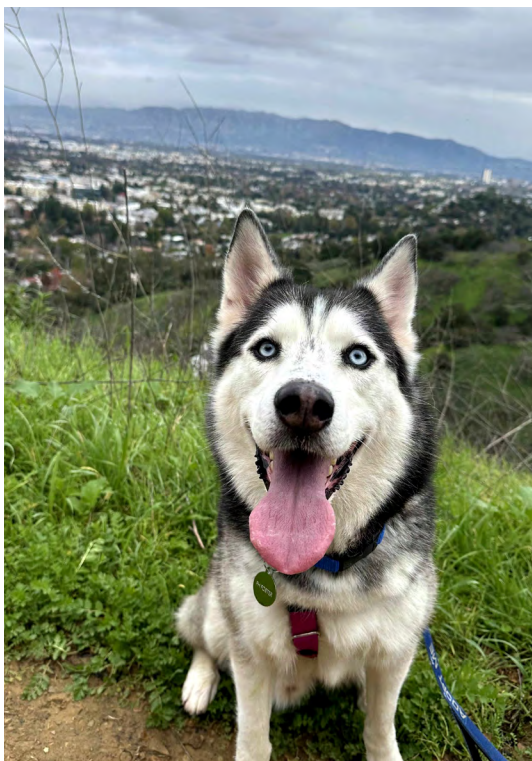

The surgery was a success, and our team is optimistic about her recovery. After a short rehabilitation period, she is expected to regain the strength and mobility she needs to survive on her own in the wild.

Your support makes second chances like this possible, for wildlife and companion animals alike.

Foster Field Trips Offer a Breath of Fresh Air!

LOGAN enjoying his big day out

Whether relaxing at a dog-friendly restaurant or adventuring on a scenic hike, our foster field trips are a great way for dogs to see (and sniff) the world outside the shelter. This break from their kennels helps reduce their stress, keeping them healthier and happier as they wait to be adopted.

Those arriving to pick up their dogs receive a backpack filled with all the supplies needed for a field trip, including treats, toys, and more. Thanks to the generosity of supporters like you, our foster team keeps these backpacks stocked with all the essential supplies our field trippers need.

Adoptable dog Logan got to go on a field trip perfectly suited for his active personality — a three-mile hike! He capped things off with a visit to Arlington Garden, stopping to smell the flowers along the way.

Afterwards, his foster told us that Logan was friendly with everyone he met, had lots of energy, and loved riding in the car. This valuable information will go a long way toward helping us match Logan with his perfect adopter.

Thanks to you, our revamped Foster Field Trip program offers more opportunities for pups to benefit from time away from their kennels!

A Bright Future for a Senior Cat, Made Possible By You

In mid-October, an 18-year-old gray cat named Mouse was surrendered to Pasadena Humane. Mouse was understandably nervous after spending most of his life in the comfort of a home. At his age, coming into the shelter environment with its unfamiliar sights and sounds was a big shift.

But that all changed when Kuala walked through our doors. Kuala came to the shelter hoping to adopt an older cat, wanting to offer a loving home to a pet who might otherwise be overlooked. Volunteer adoption counselor, Linda, introduced her to Mouse — who had arrived just three days earlier — and their connection was immediate. Kuala felt certain Mouse was meant to be hers.

Now adopted and settled into his new home, Mouse's sweet, silly personality is on full display. He greets Kuala at the door and curls up beside her at night. Their bond has grown quickly, and Kuala cherishes being part of this special, golden chapter of his life. Your generosity ensures that our most vulnerable animals are given the second chance they deserve.

Thanks to your steady support, seniors like Mouse receive the love, medical care, and individualized attention they need.

Donate an Item to Our Kitten Nursery!

Kitten season has arrived at Pasadena Humane, and our nursery is starting to fill up with the tiniest, most fragile arrivals. As the temperature rises, so does the number of kittens who need bottle feedings, incubators, and constant, loving attention to survive.

You can help them on their journey! By donating an item to our Kitten Nursery, you will provide critical supplies to our veterinary team and dedicated foster parents. You can help ensure each tiny kitten gets the nourishment, warmth, and medical care they need to grow strong. Donate supplies today at pasadenahumane.org/kittenwishlist.
